“ I didn't know Mr. Grayson very well, or for very long, but I know he was an extremely kind-hearted man. I remember the first time I met him (during my first visit to KY) when his grandson Ben, his wife, he and I were sitting at the breakfast table eating biscuits and gravy. He was telling us all a war story or two, and then he told me about his and Mrs. Grayson's first meeting. He loved her and all of his family very much. Mr. Grayson will definitely be missed.
