“ I was Orville's nurse at lanfair for the past 2ish Years. Orv wad one of my favorites. He was a hand full at times, but one of the smartest people I know. I loved when he would talk to you on other languages. If I was having a rough day at work, I would just bring him to the desk and sit with me and he would tell jokes or stories about bob and Phyllis. We will miss you buddy!

“ I'll never forget you Orville.

“ Orville lived at Lanfair at his time of passing. I work as a nursing assistant there. His eyes would always light up when I walked into his room. He would always say "Where ya been. Haven't seen you for awhile. Have ya seen ole Dodds? He must be a hundred by now. " Tom Dodds lived in my neighborhood. I would say no Orville. I just loved that man. He could be hard to get along with but with me he was always good. My deepest sympathies to the family. Rest in Peace Orville. I love ya. Donna Richards (first shift at Lanfair)

“ When Orville was in Europe during World War II he was wounded. While he was recovering he was going to take a ride on a B-17. Brother Jim found out about Orville's plans, and came to tell him not to do it. It was too dangerous. Orville had his parachute and was ready to go, but he listened to his brother.
